

Recent Operations

By Paul Rardin

Folks in the Lake Okechobee region today aren't thinking about beans and the price they will bring. They aren't even thinking about the fact that only a few days remain to do their Christmas shopping. All I've heard for the past 48 hours is that game tonight between Coach Hobson's team and the Palm Beach high Wildcats. The local chaps are in the pink of condition and ready for the battle.

There probably won't be enough folks left in the lake region tonight to stop a dog fight. Every body I've talked to plans to go. Hundreds and hundreds of cars will be gaily decorated with Blue and White colors before they make the trip to West Palm Beach. A special section will probably be reserved for the Glades fans.

If the Blue Devils can take the measure of the Wildcats it will be something for the record books. The two teams have met on the gridiron the local, eleven never has been able to "outscore the East Coast crowd" maybe tonight. If enough folks carry their rabbit's foot, the story will be different. I've been told that a team many a time in my life and don't mind being there once more—so here goes. I'm guessing that Pahokee will win by a score of 12-0. Now it's your turn to guess. Whaddya think?

This week I hardly had the nerve to write a story about beans and the prices they have been bringing during the past week. One week seems to be about as much as the growers can get out of their offerings. While the market isn't so good and then the buyers say there are too many beans. I can't see where something less than 200 cars of beans would flood the market. Of course, if they were all put on two or three markets they might do some damage. But it just looks to me like 101 cars of beans of this section should bring more money than a dollar a hamper. Maybe you'll differ with me. Thanks, too. A lot of folks do.

I think I'll air my personal troubles a little right here. This week I've had a lot of troubles. Big ones. Little ones. And some in between. To start the week business picked up to the point where I hardly knew how to handle it. The folks in the office got well, that's all right. I won't lie about it. In fact I like the way for I'll have plenty of time next summer to go fishing. Then Monday and Tuesday night the sheriff's deputies in Martin county started holding up boats in the neighborhood, and men put up $500 bond if the truck body was over seven feet in width. County Commissioner Doyle W. Crocker and I thought we had that all straightened out when we wired the governor and he replied that everything was all right and the boats would be returned. Lo and behold, when one of my truck owners decided to go to Stuart, the sheriff there refused to return it. So, I guess this brings on more trouble. The sheriff started coming in on Thursday. Not one—but dozens of them. But, I was glad to see them. I gave them a good talking to and they went back to work. I don't like work, never did. But that's the way it goes around a country newspaper. Some of the boys are going to buy a cow, some chickens, a few pigs and retire to the life of a country gentleman. Would you? Or wouldn't you?

South Bay Church Plans Homecoming

SOUTH BAY, Dec. 2.—The Community church will observe "Homecoming" with all day services Sunday morning, December 3, at 10 o'clock. Rev. Ralph Madison, Baptist minister from Mount Union, Pennsylvania, will be the guest speaker at the regular morning worship service at 11 o'clock. A covered dish luncheon will be served at noon. The church is sponsoring an informational program of readings by Rev. Madison who prepared for that purpose. The program will start about 9:30 a.m. and will continue after entering the sanctuary and who still is interested in this line of work. Everyone who has been a member of the church in the past or who is a present member of the community is cordially invited to attend any or all of these services.

Announcement of examinations for positions with the state unemployment compensation division will be made in the near future.

South Florida Conservancy District Lands Face R.F.C. Foreclosure In Surprise Move

CONCRETE TRUCKS GOING THRU MARIAN CO.

(By Paul Rardin)
A near racket was nipped in the bud Wednesday afternoon when Governor Cone instructed the sheriff of Martin county to desist from halting trucks at the St. Lucie canal and putting them under a $50 bond if the body width was more than seven feet. First trucks were stopped at the canal on Monday night and again Tuesday night several more were halted and forced to put with $50 in cash before they could go on their way unmolested in any other county in the state on their trips to northern markets in Lake Okechobee basins.

Martin county deputies were evidently laboring under the impression that an old law specifying seven foot width was still in effect. However, the eight foot law prevails and on Wednesday night trucks were rolling out of the Lake region unmolested. This writer sat at the canal bridge for two hours Wednesday night and no sign of a deputy was seen or heard. The trucks rolled on, carrying Lake region produce for which growers will receive cash with which to buy presents this Christmas.

WESTERN UNION TELEGRAM

Pahokee, Fla., December 1, 1937.
Hon. Fred P. Cone, Governor, Tallahassee, Fla.
Trucks operating out of Lake Okechobee region north from Pahokee and Canal Point over Conner's highway are being held up at St. Lucie Canal in Martin county and forced to put up fifty dollar bond when trucks are over seven feet in width. This is the first time this law has been invoked and truck operators and growers were unaware of consequences. Martin county deputies doing this work are operating thirty miles from their county seat in a remote section of their county. The Conner's highway on which trucks are being stopped is about seven miles through Martin county. If something can be done to relieve first offense trucks from this fifty dollar charge until they can cut down the width of their trucks the entire populace of the Lake Okechobee farming region will be grateful. Trucks operating under the Railroad Commission are not being molested regardless of width. Trucks are being held in Lake section with all northern trips cancelled until we hear from you in regard to this matter. Please advise by wire if there is something that can be done to relieve the situation.

PAUL RARDIN, State Representative,
DOYLE W. CROCKER, County Commissioner,
Palm Beach County.

WESTERN UNION TELEGRAM

TALLAHASSEE, FLO, DEC. 1, 1937
PAUL RARDIN, CANAL POINT.
Telegram Received. Sheriff Contacted and Bonds Released. You Will Have No Further Trouble.

FRED P. CONE, GOVERNOR

BUT that isn't all of the story yet. After receiving the governor's telegram I made a trip around to all of the packing houses and told them to start their trucks out again. All well and good. But, I told them more than that. I told them that the governor said the bonds would be released and we'd have no more trouble. Well, after yesterday morning J. T. Fuqua, who had posted a $50 bond made a trip to Stuart (the county seat of Martin) after his bond money and do you think he got it? He didn't. He came back and told me the story. And there's where I spent some money perfectly good money telephoning.

I called Major Kirkland of the state road department. I called the governor. Neither one was in his office. So I talked to Branch Cone, the governor's brother and executive secretary. He promised me over the phone that he would again contact the sheriff of Martin county and see why the bonds hadn't been released.

There is just one thing to remember. There are seven $50 bonds posted in Martin county and the sheriff there may have to see that much money leave the county. If the over-width charge doesn't stand up (and I hope it looks like it won't) it is possible that some other charge may be brought against the truckmen. I don't know what it may be, but, in the case boys get their money back everything will be Okechobee.

Neon Signs Adorn Elliott Showroom

Beautiful neon signs were erected on the B. Elliott Ford agency in Pahokee this week. Over the entrance to the apartment building the dealer's name is emblazoned in the familiar neon. Over one show window is the word "Ford" in neon and over the other window appears "Lincoln-Zephyr". Around the top of the building is another tube, thus setting off the building as one of the attractive show-places of this section.

County Benefits Financially From Welfare Program

528 Persons Received Old Age Assistance In October

Palm Beach county is benefiting financially in at least four ways from the State Welfare program, according to a statement released today in Jacksonville from the office of the State Welfare board.

Dollar and cents benefits came from old age assistance, CCC payroll, free distribution of surplus commodities and WPA employment. A fifth county income, assistance for the blind, is next on program and expected to become effective by Christmas Day.

Statistics, compiled for October, show that 528 persons in the county receiving old age assistance grants totaling $10,006.00 for the month; that it had 48 enrolled in CCC payroll, and 1,000 being required to remit 25 cents per month to dependents; that surplus commodities were distributed to 1,000 residents of the county; that WPA employment, distributed among 54 persons, totalled $17,500 for the month.

In addition, the welfare program includes N.Y.A. certification, child welfare, investigations for N.Y.A. scholarships, for Crippled Children's commission, services to county agencies, out of town inquiries and other welfare activities.

"While the State Welfare board is a direct administrative agency for old age assistance, aid to the blind and aid to dependent children, it is also charged with the certification of persons seeking WPA employment, CCC and N.Y.A. enrollment, and with the distribution of surplus commodities," said J. C. Giddens, state welfare commissioner, stationed at Jacksonville. "It is the agency through which the federal government clears" the majority of its welfare activities. The value of the program can be computed by adding up the products of benefits, such as those enumerated above.

Road 25 Resurface Work Progressing

LAKE HARBOR, Dec. 2.—J. H. Vidal, state road department inspector out of Miami; G. W. Butler, engineer in charge with E. H. Davis, superintendent of the McParlin & Company, Inc., of Miami, are proceeding with the resurfacing of Road 25 adjacent to Bean City at the rate of 900 feet per day. They are using the new concrete slabs for re-laying the road, bringing in 10 cars per day over the A. C. L. railway to the point, and work on a length of 50 men and 5 trucks.

All appointments for positions in the department of transportation division of the Florida industrial commission will be based strictly on merit.

Public Hearing On Wages In Clewiston

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—The agricultural adjustment administration announced public hearings will be held at Clewiston Dec. 4 on wage rates in the production, cultivation and harvesting of sugar cane and on prices to be paid sugarcane growers. The 1937 sugar act authorizes the secretary of agriculture to establish "fair and reasonable" wage rates for workers in sugar-cane fields and to establish prices to be paid growers by cane-producing processors.

ARRANGE TO PAY TEACHERS ON TIME

Carmen Salvatore, Glades member of the county school board, said this week that the school board authorized the making of a $5,000 loan to meet teachers' salaries coming due December 10. At a special meeting Tuesday morning at the office of Superintendent J. L. Leonard, the school board voted to help pay third month salaries.

The necessity for the action arose, said Mr. Leonard, because the county board had notified the county board the monthly allocations will not be made on time this month because of insufficient funds in the state teachers salary fund.

Many officials and others have been in urging motorists to obtain their tags early so that the revenue will become available quickly in the next salary payment. The 1938 plates go on sale this morning.

JUNIOR PLAY ON NIGHT DECEMBER 9

Juniors of Pahokee high school will present their annual play on Thursday night, December 9, in the high school auditorium. The title of the three-act farce comedy is "Enter the Hero." A large audience is expected, and the play is being sold in advance of the performance at 20 cents and 35 cents.

Thermometers To Be Tested Free

Thermometers will be tested for growers in this section at the Everglades Experiment Station at Lakeland, Fla., December 8, in connection with the Federal-State Horticultural Protection Service at Lakeland. Testing is being done by Philip J. Powell, assistant meteorologist. Growers desiring this service please have each thermometer labeled with name and address. If thermometers are mailed, return postage should be included.

One-Third of Total Acreage In District Is Affected

"South Florida Conservancy district owes to Reconstruction Finance corporation a little more than $600,000.00. Reconstruction Finance corporation holds as security for this indebtedness approximately $935,000.00 principal amount bonds and other obligations of South Florida Conservancy district.

"Of the 31,500 acres of land situated within the district, approximately 10,000 acres are delinquent in the payment of South Florida Conservancy district taxes. This district is limited by legislative act as to the amount of tax which it might levy for debt service purposes as well as for maintenance and operation. With one-third of the lands of the district delinquent in the payment of taxes it will be impossible for the district to meet its debt requirements; it will also be impossible, in these circumstances, for the district to properly maintain and operate its drainage system.

For some time Reconstruction Finance corporation has been studying the serious condition of this district and has determined it to be necessary, for the protection of its loan made for the benefit of the district, to take such steps as are necessary and available to return to the current tax rolls of this district all lands within the district delinquent in the payment of district taxes. Having reached this conclusion, the Reconstruction Finance corporation is now taking steps to acquire, through the acquisition and foreclosure of tax sale certificates, good and marketable titles to the lands in the district which are delinquent.

The purpose of this program has been adopted by Reconstruction Finance corporation is to enforce the payment of all delinquent taxes and keep the lands on the delinquent rolls of the district. The accomplishment of this purpose should enable the district to meet its obligations which due and at the same time maintain and operate the works of the district in an efficient and beneficial manner.

In a move that was as surprising as it was drastic, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation has decided to take steps to acquire, through the acquisition and foreclosure of tax sale certificates, good and marketable titles to the lands in the district which are delinquent.

More Roastin' Ears

Grady Boynton, who lives north of Canal Point, brought the editor of this newspaper another sackful of roastin' ears this week. The ears were from the ears of Mr. and Mrs. Boynton are gathering the products from a 10 acre plot. The ears were excepted to be delicious. The writer had the pleasure of treating the force and some of the neighbors on his side of town to some of the delicacy.

EVERGLADES F. & M. TO MEET DECEMBER 7

There will be a regular communication of the Everglades Lodge No. 211 F. & M. Tuesday, December 7, at 8:00 p. m., at Pahokee. Election of officers for the coming year will be held and all members are urged to be present. Refreshments will be served at the conclusion of the meeting.

TURNER IS ELECTED HEAD SOIL GROUP

J. Fred Turner, Jr., of Jupiter, was elected chairman of the Palm Beach County Soil Conservation association Tuesday. The association, which is working toward the reclamation of the soil in the county, is a branch of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, to plan its 1938 program, also elected J. Sullivan of Belle Glade as vice chairman. Sullivan and Turner will form a committee along with O. R. Winchester of Boynton and O. B. McClure of Pahokee.

Benefit Card Party

Members of the Belle Glade Woman's club announce a benefit card party to be held at the club house on the evening of Tuesday, Dec. 7. The party will be held at the club house and members of the club are urged to attend as they will be something going on of interest to every visitor.

Coach Frank Hobson's Blue Devil foot ball warriors travel to West Palm Beach tonight where they engage in their final game of the season with Red Whittington's Palm Beach Wildcats. Nearly a thousand Glades supporters of the Hobsons will accompany the team to the East Coast for TIE game of the year. Never, in history, has a Glades aggregation been able to take the measure of a Palm Beach high team. Last year the Wildcats defeated the Blue Devils on Lair field in Pahokee by a score of 6 to 0.

Can Buy Auto Tags From Mrs. Ora Powell

Again this year Mrs. Ora Powell at the Everglades Insurance Agency in Pahokee is operating a service agency for automobile tags. Mrs. Powell and her assistants take care of all detail work in the state tag applications and secure your tag from the court house in West Palm Beach.

Lutz Pharmacy Is Remodeled Before Christmas Buying

New Fixtures Are Installed Following Before New Merchandise Unpacked

Kenneth Lutz, proprietor of Lutz Pharmacy, keeping in step with the times and the progressive Everglades region, has installed new and modern store fixtures. Last week before he unpacked his large orders of Christmas merchandise he had the new fixtures installed which make his store one of the finest drug stores in Palm Beach county.

New display fixtures of the most modern type were installed last week and over the week end everything was put in its place. The fixtures are of a light walnut color and make the store one of the show places of Belle Glade. The addition of new fixtures of the customer full view of all items. A special rack is built in the new fixtures to hold magazines. The fixtures are of a light walnut color and make the store one of the show places of Belle Glade. "Pahokee's dogged fight has won by only 6-0, and the determination of the Blue Devils to win this year's state championship is a fact that Captain Tommy O'Rourke and R. E. Upthegrove each developed 15 to 20 lbs. The Wildcats didn't practice placement goals, inasmuch as extra points may be precious Friday night.

"A big delegation of Pahokee fans is planning to make the trip here to support Coach Frank Hobson and his Blue Devils. The Pahokee has featured a running attack in which light, fast backs use a series of tricky reverses and end runs to throw the game. As a result of the games in which the Blue Devils have played have produced the thrills of an open season.

"The Pahokee clash will close the schedules for both outfits, although Palm Beach has scheduled a game with Daytona Beach.

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY

By Russell Ray.

I remember at a press meeting a few years ago Colonel W. E. Kay, distinguished Jacksonville attorney, appearing as a hanger-on, apologized for having the name name of your humble correspondent and took time out to explain that he was not related to me, not even distantly, and was tired of having folks say "Oh, Russell, that's your 'Too Late to Classify'."

Then a couple of years ago I discovered that there was a bird in Daytona Beach who had gone to apologize for the Colonel, for his fond parents, unable to look into the future and vision the kindly eyes that might follow their son, took it upon themselves to say that his male offspring "Russell" and it happened their name was Kay.

Mrs. Russell Kay of Tampa picks up a copy of the Daytona Beach News-Journal and sees where Mr. and Mrs. Russell Kay were the life of the cocktail party at the country club and glances at me like I was Mr. Sin himself, she says, "So, that's where you were, and you told me you were going to Tampa and while both innocent husbands can say "Ha, ha, it's funny, isn't it—that guy 'gavin' the same name as me?"—it doesn't sound nearly as convincing as it should.

But it seems that Kay is not the only name that can get a guy in trouble, for I received a pathetic letter from no less a personage than the Honorable W. C. (Home) Hodges of Tallahassee, in which he said, "Call my attention to the fact that a lot of folks have confused him with another Honorable Hodges of the same name—J. B. Hodges of Lake City, State Democratic committee chairman, whose recent frank statement of opinions has caused plenty of excitement in party ranks during the past few weeks."

With Governor, Com. Senator Claude Pepper, Hortense Wells

and a flock of other dignitaries denouncing the name of Hodges and yelling "traitor and ingrate at the top of their lungs, poor "Bill" finds that a lot of folks have got him confused with the gentleman from Lake City and every mail brings him a job of nasty letters accusing him of dirty dealing the "New Deal" and consigning him to the political death.

So far the Honorable J. B. Hodges of Lake City has registered no complaint about being confused in the public mind with "Home" Hodges, but he probably has been so annoyed in the past and possibly with equal embarrassment, for the handicap works both ways, but J. B. shows an admirable ability to "take it" even though he is called upon to explain that he was not related to the guy that ran for governor.

So just to keep the record straight and as a service to both of these "honorable" gentlemen, Mr. J. B. Hodges of Lake City, the State Democratic committee chairman, and W. C. (Home) Hodges of Tallahassee, former president of the state senate and gubernatorial candidate, "one under the same." They are not related either by blood or marriage, and it seems that neither is authorized to speak for the other.

But considering the fact that both of these gentlemen are able lawyers, all this CONFUSION over the name of Hodges is downright silly, to say plain ordinary citizens who have acquired around in a witness chair with attorneys pointed wicked looks' index fingers in his face and did their best to explain that he was not related to the guy that ran for governor.

And, incidentally, the answer yes or no? And you find such an answer insufficient for intelligent expression of the facts, you might say WHY you must make such an answer, and then request the judge to point out the rule of law that requires it. I know of one judge and one lawyer who did a lot of heart scratching and then had to admit they didn't know WHY and the witness was permitted to make a clear statement. How about it, Attorney Kenneth Balingier?

and a flock of other dignitaries denouncing the name of Hodges and yelling "traitor and ingrate at the top of their lungs, poor "Bill" finds that a lot of folks have got him confused with the gentleman from Lake City and every mail brings him a job of nasty letters accusing him of dirty dealing the "New Deal" and consigning him to the political death.

So far the Honorable J. B. Hodges of Lake City has registered no complaint about being confused in the public mind with "Home" Hodges, but he probably has been so annoyed in the past and possibly with equal embarrassment, for the handicap works both ways, but J. B. shows an admirable ability to "take it" even though he is called upon to explain that he was not related to the guy that ran for governor.

So just to keep the record straight and as a service to both of these "honorable" gentlemen, Mr. J. B. Hodges of Lake City, the State Democratic committee chairman, and W. C. (Home) Hodges of Tallahassee, former president of the state senate and gubernatorial candidate, "one under the same." They are not related either by blood or marriage, and it seems that neither is authorized to speak for the other.

But considering the fact that both of these gentlemen are able lawyers, all this CONFUSION over the name of Hodges is downright silly, to say plain ordinary citizens who have acquired around in a witness chair with attorneys pointed wicked looks' index fingers in his face and did their best to explain that he was not related to the guy that ran for governor.

And, incidentally, the answer yes or no? And you find such an answer insufficient for intelligent expression of the facts, you might say WHY you must make such an answer, and then request the judge to point out the rule of law that requires it. I know of one judge and one lawyer who did a lot of heart scratching and then had to admit they didn't know WHY and the witness was permitted to make a clear statement. How about it, Attorney Kenneth Balingier?

But it seems that Kay is not the only name that can get a guy in trouble, for I received a pathetic letter from no less a personage than the Honorable W. C. (Home) Hodges of Tallahassee, in which he said, "Call my attention to the fact that a lot of folks have confused him with another Honorable Hodges of the same name—J. B. Hodges of Lake City, State Democratic committee chairman, whose recent frank statement of opinions has caused plenty of excitement in party ranks during the past few weeks."

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Sunday, December 5th

CHRISTIAN TEST

Lesson Text is found in Matthew 11:23-30 and Hebrews 4:1-11.

Golden Text: "Come unto me, and I will give you rest." Matthew 11:28.

After studying such lessons as Christian's Minister, Christian's Workers and Christian Fruitfulness, it is only fitting that we come to study Christian Rest.

I fear that our greatest trouble is that we seldom do enough Christian work to necessitate resting.

Christ offers rest to his people. It is in his possession, and he offers it as a gift. But he specifies the conditions of the gift. He wishes that every toiling and burdened heart accept and enjoy that rest now and forever.

There is a rest in Christianity with mercy. There are a great many who have labored to the point of fatigue. The myriads of mankind are wearying to the point of breakdown.

Our world today is weary of the load it is bearing, and as Paul said "For we know that the whole creation groans and travaileth in pain together until now. And not only they, but ourselves also, which have the first fruits of the Spirit, even we ourselves groan within ourselves, waiting for the adoption, to wit, the redemption of our body." Romans 8:22-23. What we need as individuals and what we need as a world is the rest that Christ can give. And he invites us to come to him and rest.

Christ promises what they in their utter weariness want more than any thing else—Rest. The promise Christ gives exactly fits the condition of those who come. Only from him can the burdened find ease and the troubled soul know an infinite calm.

With the call of the giver and the conveyance of the gift comes the command that conditions the reception of the gift. The rest he gives capacitates for the service he requires. But his yoke is easier than any human yoke that men are called to bear. They require us to study in his school. For there is something now for us to learn every day and infinite are the treasures of knowledge that beckon us upward.

The possibility appeals strongly to the spiritual heart. Now we can find rest unto our souls, for we are in the path of duty, bearing the yoke of Christ and learning in the school of Christ. The rest he gives is thus supplemented by the rest we can find.

Christ took the downward road to us so that he might open up to us the upward road to him. He is not haughty but meek, not lofty but lowly, so that he is accessible to the humblest and gracious to the worst. His burdens are light and he helps us to bear them every one. The yoke he gives us is easy, and he promises that we shall have his constant aid.

The rest Christ provides for us now is just a foretaste of the wonderful rest he has provided for his people in Heaven.

Because of unbelief the Israelites did not realize the rest of the Creator so that today that rest is withheld from the Sabbath rest that remains for this people of God.

It is, therefore, time for fear and vigilance and prayer. For the sacred penman has just told us what happened to unbelieving Israel in the wilderness. He says, "Let us therefore." That ancient danger has become a modern peril. We ought so to fear as to be aroused, alert, and on our guard.

Our danger is that with the knowledge of and the door of opportunity, opened our ears, we should rest, some of us should come into that rest.

We must enter it by faith, we must go on conquest for it, we believe that God is able to give us that land, though all indications are against our possessing it. We must share the faith of Caleb and Joshua.

Faith obtains our title to that rest, but faithfulness actually enters into it. "We who have believed do enter into that rest." Hebrews 4:1. That rest is also for our day.

We wait the rest that shall come at the close of our little earthly day. Many have already entered into it, and we too look for an entrance, by his grace, in the fullness of time.

What fever should animate us, that we after having been warned, of the example of unbelief and disobedience, should hold faithful unto the end; that we should be welcomed into that heavenly rest. For many of these quotations I am indebted to "Points for Emphasis."

South Carolina Editor Does Unusual Bit of Reporting About Newlyweds

It is probably the ambition of every person who can see his thoughts in print, to be able some day to write exactly what he thinks about certain people. It remained for the editor of the Mountain Inn (B. C.) Tribune to enjoy that privilege. His editorial follows:

Mr. Robert Chetway and Miss Alice Broadbent were married at noon Monday at the home of the bride's parents, Rev. M. L. Garrison officiating.

The groom is a popular young man who hasn't done a lick of work since he got shipped in the middle of his junior year at college. He manages to draw well and keep a supply of spending money because his dad is a soft-hearted old fool who takes up his bad checks instead of letting him go to jail where he belongs.

The bride is a skinny, fast little idiot, who has been hissed and handled by every boy in town. She, like a Sioux Indian, smokes cigarettes in secret, and drinks mean corn liquor when she is out joy riding in her dad's car at night. She doesn't know how to cook, sew or keep house.

The house was newly plastered for the wedding and exterior newly painted, thus appropriately carrying out the decorative scheme, for the groom was newly plastered also, and the bride newly painted.

The young people will make their home with the bride's parents, which means that they will sponge on the old man until he dies and then she will take in washing.

Postscript: This may be the last issue of the Tribune, but it has always been my ambition to write up one wedding and tell the unvarnished truth. Now, that it is done, death can have no sting.

Judge Elwyn Thomas of Fort Pierce Seeks Place On State Supreme Court

JUDGE ELWYN THOMAS

Fort Pierce, Dec. 2.—One of the most widely known judges in Florida, Judge Elwyn Thomas, senior judge of the 9th judicial circuit, will appear before the state supreme court bench in group 2, opposing chief Justice W. H. Hills and G. T. Fitch.

Born on the Indian River just south of Fort Pierce, Judge Thomas was educated in the common schools of Florida and took his degree as a lawyer at Stetson University. At the age of 21 he was prosecuting attorney serving for two terms and then became city attorney of Vero Beach and Fort Pierce. He held the latter post from 1919 until 1925 when he was named circuit judge when the 21st judicial circuit was formed to include Okeechobee, Indian River, St. Lucie and Martin counties. He was twice nominated for the post unopposed, serving continuously in this circuit and since it became part of the 9th circuit for 12 years and five months. The present circuit is the second largest in the state and the fourth in population.

Being a native Floridian Judge Thomas has always given ample of his time to the development of Florida and the advancement of formal activities. A vestryman of St. Andrews Episcopal church, member of the American Legion, a member of Miami Temple, Miami, president of the chamber of commerce at Fort Pierce are just a few of the varied interests he has had. As a circuit judge he has sat on several occasions on the supreme court bench when called there and has also written opinions from his chambers at Fort Pierce.

The unemployment compensation personnel advisory committee has been appointed and includes Carrington Gramling of Miami, representing labor, Dr. J. C. Davis of Quincy representing the public and Herbert Wolfe of St. Augustine representing industry.

"Mountain Music" Is Film For Belle Glade On Sunday

Just about a year ago two people were placed on the Paramount payroll for the first time. They were Bob Burns and Martha Raye. Today, the hilarious funmaker have reached stardom in a picture of their own. It's "Mountain Music," the hillbilly comedy which plays at the Belle Glade theatre Sunday and Monday.

Millions on the air know Bob Burns as the hill-billy hillbilly of them all. So it was only natural that eventually Burns would be placed into his favorite locale of Arkansas and bring to life characters about whom he talks.

The picture itself is a satire in which mountain feuds are kidded. In the picture Bob is a glib-shy chap who can't resist a desire to work. His father inherits him into a position whereby Bob is scheduled to marry the daughter of another clan and thus settle a feud. The "dads" was great-but Bob leaves standing at the figurative altar.

In the supporting cast are such notations as Jan Duggan, for five years the star of "The Drunkard," Fuzzy Knight, who scored such a hit in "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," and Rafta Davis, a hillbilly sensation from the night clubs.

John Howard and Terry Walker provide the subsidiary love interest in the "romance" of Burns and Martha Raye. "Mountain Music" was especially written for the screen by Mackinlay Kantor, noted novelist and poet, whose "The Voice of Bugle Ann" was produced one of the year ago. It was "wiped up" by John C. Moffitt, Duke Atterbury, Russell Crouse and Charles Lederer, and directed by Robert Florey.

Wilcox Predicts Defeat Of Wages Bill In Congress

Labor Head Vows Bill In Same Light As Wilcox

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—Prediction that the statement of President Green of the American Federation of Labor, withdrawing the support of organized labor from the Black-Connery wages and hour bill will kill the measure in its present form, was made here today by Congressman Wilcox of Florida.

Wilcox, who for some months past has been pointing out the dangers involved in the bill, said Green's statement should have a "very sobering effect upon congress" and predicted that it would postpone action on the wages and hours legislation at least for the present special session.

"Mr. Green is very clearly pointed out that the chief danger of a powerful Federal Bureau with dictatorial power over both business and labor," Congressman Wilcox said. "He is eminently correct in opposing the bill."

"I am convinced," Wilcox continued, "that if such a board is set up with the authority and power, proposed in the Black-Connery bill it will within a few years reduce labor to a virtual condition of economic slavery. For the past six months I have been trying to point out the dangers involved in this bill and naturally I am gratified to know that these views are to this extent shared by the president of the American Federation of Labor."

1938 Ford Models Now On Display At Elliott Showroom

Two Distinct Types Are Being Featured This Year

Ford V-type 8-cylinder cars for 1938 are on display in Pahoekes at the B. Elliott showrooms. They are offered this year as two distinct lines, differing in appearance and price. Both are in the lowest price field.

One is a newly-styled standard Ford line in coupe, Tudor and Fordor body types, powered either with the 85 or 60 horsepower V-8 engine. The standard cars are designed to meet requirements of the many other car owners, who means dictate maximum economy in first cost, as well as in maintenance and operating costs.

The other line is a newly-designed de luxe line for owners who desire additional style and appointments. Powered only with the 85 horsepower V-8 engine, the line includes eight body types, the coupe, Tudor and Fordor sedans, as well as the "dick" coupe, convertible cabriolet, cab convertible sedan, convertible sedan and the phaeton. The two lines of cars are styled in a more improved V-8 chassis, but their styling is distinctly different.

The de luxe cars are larger in appearance. The hood has been lengthened. Its nearly vertical front is carried in a "V" well down into the grille, with the familiar V-8 emblem at the tip of the "V." Horizontal lines of the grille bars and the louvers are echoed in the radiator, hood, fenders and the front end.

The new standard line cars also present a larger appearance, with a newly-designed front end, grille, hood and fenders. The front end is formed in a "V" with the horizontal grille bars extending unbroken along the hoodside to form the louvers.

Fenders in both cars are massive, formed lower to provide more complete coverage of the running gear and extending farther back. Headlamps are again recessed in front fender aprons, new type tail lamps in the tips of rear fenders. Interiors of the two cars are roomy and attractive, styled in keeping with the exteriors. The de luxe sedan interiors are larger. A new instrument panel adds measurably to the beauty of the front compartment. The panel of the de luxe line cars is in walnut grain finish, that of the standard line cars in mahogany finish.

Blank forms for the filing of the first monthly contribution reports are now in the mail and must be completed and returned, together with contribution of 18 per cent of October pay roll, not later than November 25.

Why You Should Plant

ANCHOR BRAND SEED POTATOES Grown in the Cumberland Mountains of Tennessee

The stock we have are grown from carefully selected certified seed.

The State of Tennessee requires three years rotation and is the only State that requires spraying, and they also have a very high inspection and roguing program.

All certified seed must be graded in the presence of the State Inspector who then tags and seals every bag as it comes from the scales.

Every effort has been put forth to grow and produce fine high yielding seed, free from disease. Anchor Brand Seed will stand out against any other.

Green seed will not set as heavy a crop as mature seed. Anchor Brand Seed are harvested earlier, thereby affording a longer rest period.

Potatoes shrink up to 5% the first few days after harvest. Anchor Brand Seed several weeks before being shipped, which insures full weight at the time of shipping.

Glades Farming Tactics Prove New To Reporter From Coast Resort Daily

A reporter from the Stuart Daily News saw a couple of Everglades farmers in action this week on a tract of land in Martin county. The reporter was more or less surprised at the methods used by these progressive chaps and commented at length in an article in that East Coast paper. The story appears below:

Riding out to Port Mayaca we saw a sight for sore eyes, an armistice against inaction—plows, tractors and draglines going full tilt, turning Martin county wilderness into farming land.

Nine miles west of Stuart, on Indian town road, two Everglades operators, Joe Friedman and Louis Weiman, have started a 500-acre farm project, are pushing it with typical Everglades efficiency. While the big draglines grunt and huff into the earth, leaving ditches behind them and a protective levee on the side, tractors grind through the palmettos, the wire grass and the sage, disgorge and plows leave furrows through the pine trees, and in their wake walk the seedmen, throwing fertilizer with one hand, bean seed with the other.

It's pioneering with a vengeance, and a sort that would make any regulation old-fashioned pioneer rub his eyes and reach for the snake-bite cure. All pioneering rules are broken by this modern invasion of the forest. Instead of having to look out for a woodcutting Papa Pioneer sneaking through the palmettos with Old Betsy under his arm, the deer and the wild turkeys have to keep on the jump to keep from being run over by a tractor. In a way, that's an indignity.

The whole operation is going on at once. What was wild land three days ago, may be planted to beans, tomatoes or peppers today, while five hundred yards distant, the pine saplings and the palmettos are being cleared.

LAW-AWAY PLAN IN EFFECT AT JORDON STORE IN PAHOKEE

Christmas shoppers will be pleased with the law-away plan at the Jordan jewelry store in Pahokee this Christmas season. Paul Jordan, proprietor, announces this week in a large advertisement in this newspaper that the plan is now in effect and that a small down payment will hold any article until Christmas eve.

At the Jordan store in Pahokee a wide range of jewelry gifts are on display and the proprietor is anxious that Glades patrons take advantage of his plan. "Our plan," he said, "makes Christmas buying easier. It gives the purchaser the advantage of selecting his gifts early in season while the stock is full and complete."

The Jordan store was opened in Pahokee several months ago and is now enjoying a wide patronage. Mr. and Mrs. Jordan came to Pahokee from Avon Park. Their store is fast becoming the jewelry shopping center of the Lake region.

Mr. Jordan is an expert watchmaker and his repair business keeps him busy the major portion of the time. Mrs. Jordan, an able saleslady, assists him in the store.

NEW TRAINS ADDED
When the Seaboard's famous twin "Orange Blossom Special" steam out of northern terminals on their inaugural trips on December 5th, the Seaboard clips as high as five hours and fifty minutes from regular train schedules between eastern and Florida terminals. One week later, the "Florida Sunbeam" resumes service from the Mid-West, and places those cities as much as eight hours and twenty-five minutes closer to winter sunshine. The inauguration of these Seaboard seasonal trains is expected to add impetus to the early season influx of winter visitors, according to F. E. Hoffman, division passenger agent.

The first monthly payment of contributions to the state unemployment compensation fund is now due and must be paid on or before the 25th of this month on October payroll.

Mr. Everglades Farmer or Business Man:

You've heard about getting a Federal Farm loan and paying it back in amortized payments over a period of 15 years. So far, the Federal Land Banks have not seen fit to make any loans of this type in the Everglades area. However, I offer a real farm—400 acres—not in a solid body, but you can see by the diagram below, no one tract is further than 1/2 mile from another tract and the terms are similar to a Federal Farm loan.

This should be interesting to a large farmer or packer financially able to operate a 400 acre farm. It can be bought for $8,000.00 down, $1,536.00 twice a year and taxes of about $1,800.00. In other words, not counting the down payment, the annual principal, interest and tax payments will total just over $12.00 per acre per year—almost the same as rent. And, at the end of 15 years, he will own the land.

This 400 acres lies within 1/2 mile of State Road No. 25, close to Belle Glade packing houses. 200 acres of the 400 have been ditched, diked and mole-drained, and every acre of the ground is productive—none of it has been burned or mis-treated. In previous years, the land offered has been leased for $10.00 to $12.00 per acre per year.

I consider this a real offer and advise you to take it into consideration immediately, as I frankly believe someone is going to purchase this tract before January 1st.
